BIOGRAPHY

No box can contain the artistry that Claudillea exudes. She has an innate wonder for the world and people around her; being that she has lived in various countries and experienced diverse cultures her entire life, no one place is home to her. The culmination of these influences expands beyond just culture - the music Claudillea creates is genre bending. Her unique blend of classic opera singing techniques with pop, trap, hip-hop and EDM music, what she calls OPPOP, made her a popular contestant on the UK's The Voice in 2020. Her goal as an artist is to not only encourage people to explore beyond what they are comfortable with, but to know they do not have to live their lives confined to a single box.

Having opened for classical group Il Divo in 2018, Claudillea made waves in 2020 after earning a place on The Voice UK, first on Team Meghan and later stolen by Will.I.Am. This year, Claudillea is ready to step into her own spotlight with an EP that will be released in the fall, beginning with her first single "Habanera" out now.

Originally from Cambridgeshire, but raised in Borneo, Malaysia, Claudillea's multicultural upbringing gave her a global perspective and a sense of limitlessness. She was awarded a scholarship to study classical music at Michigan's Interlochen Arts Academy in the USA, and later went to the Manhattan School of Music in New York to get her BMus in Voice. Upon graduating, Claudillea starred in the Off-Broadway show 'Whiskey Pants: The Mayor of Williamsburg'.

Now based in London, Claudillea is focused on making operatic vocals more accessible. The independent artist says: "For me, the opera world actively excludes certain demographics, and I want to help make it more accessible. Bring it into 2021. If Mozart was around today, his music would be covered in Radio 1 Lounge and done a completely different way. I want millennials and gen z's to not squirm when they hear opera."
